Mandatory Organic Standards and Labels

In Germany, EU legislation on organic farming is fully implemented. Additionally, the national Organic Farming Act and the Regulation on the Approval of Control Bodies after the Organic Farming Act apply. They cover rules for the implementation of EU legislation in Germany. The national rules are not relevant for operators from outside Germany that want to export organic products to Germany.

The competent authority responsible for the implementation of EU and national organic legislation is the Federal Ministry of Food and Agriculture.

Pre-packed organic products sold in Germany have to be labelled with the EU organic farming logo. For products imported from third countries the use of the EU organic farming logo is optional. A mandatory national organic logo does not exist.

Basic Regulation on production and labelling of organic products COUNCIL REGULATION (EC) No 834/2007 of 28 June 2007 on the organic production and labelling of organic products and repealing Regulation (EEC) No 2092/91. This basic regulation became effective on 1 January 2009 and describes the objectives, principles and most important rules on production. The basic regulation is complemented by the rules for implementation (see below). A consolidated version covering all amendments can be downloaded as well as the single legal acts (all corrections, amendments and additions). Updates are performed regularly and promptly.	eu
Implementing Rules on organic production, labelling and Control COMMISSION REGULATION (EC) No 889/2008 of 5 September 2008 laying down detailed rules for the implementation of Council Regulation (EC) No 834/2007	eu

Conclusions

America first policy

- ... protects big (poultry) producers
- ... lower focus on international trade issues

EU (first?) policy

- ... focus on (EU) consumer protection
- ... will take a couple of years for clarification and full implementation

Countries with less developed organic markets

- ... will only in few cases be able to negotiate trade agreements
- ... have to comply with different sets of standards in export markets

A line of agricultural machinery, including tractors and harvesters, parked in a field under a clear blue sky. The foreground features a large green harvester with a prominent front-mounted implement. In the background, several blue tractors are lined up, some with various implements attached. The scene is set in a rural, open field with a clear blue sky.

Thank you very much
